It is a food blog website where different recipes from different parts of the world can be found.

It is a colorful website about food. It includes different pictures and facts about the food with the recipe too, which is very helpful and fun to watch.

THE FEATURE I LIKED THE MOST:

The layout of the website is something that stands out the most to me. There are many different size boxes with colorful and bright pictures of the food and by clicking on them we can see the recipe. This layout is eye-catching and it keeps people's interest in it.

THE REASON I LIKED THIS FEATURE:

The bright and colorful part of the layout is what makes it so likable. The mixed use of a small and big box is very innovative, and it helps to keep the viewer's interest in the website. This box feature is not only eye-catching it's also very useful and easy to navigate because people can see the picture first and decide if they want to see the details or not and they can click on it and open this to see recipes and other information about the food. Because of this, I like this website and this feature.
